

To face the challenge of an ageing population, the DomusVi Group adopts an ambitious strategic plan backed by long-time shareholders

- The DomusVi Group announces the launch of its new Domus2025 strategic plan. This ambitious plan initiates a new growth cycle enabling the Group to meet the challenge of an ageing population and contribute to seniors' well-being by maintaining and developing an active social life in a safe environment. DomusVi continues to roll out its transformation and will accelerate growth and project development in the areas of accommodation, services and innovative therapies for independent and dependant seniors.
- To back this plan, the DomusVi Group announces, today, the renewal of a long-time partnership between its historic financial and strategic investors.
- This operation was conducted by Yves Journal, founder of DomusVi and strategic investor via SRS (Sagesse Retraite Santé) which, on this occasion, significantly increased its stake in the Group, and ICG (Intermediate Capital Group), a top-tier European financial investor.
- ICG as well as SRS and its French institutional co-investors such as MACIF, Bpifrance, Arkea Capital and its new investor Mérieux Equity Partners (via its latest vehicle, MP4), thus reassert full confidence in the DomusVi Group management team whose Domus2025 strategic plan will boost strong development in France and internationally to meet the challenge of an ageing population in the coming years.

*"Today, I am strengthening my strategic participation in DomusVi with the support of French investors from the social economy who believe in the Group's mission, convictions, skills and objectives. Nearly 40 years after founding the Group, I am participating in the growth and transformation of an outstanding service provider for people in vulnerable situations, one whose contribution to the general equilibrium of our ageing western societies will be universally acknowledged. I know that the management team continues to abide by the founding principles and values, and I am proud of it," stated Yves Journal, President of the Supervisory Board of Sagesse Retraite Santé.

DomusVi Group CEO Sylvain Rabuel commented on the announcement: "The challenge of an ageing population calls for action from all of us. The DomusVi Group will contribute by accelerating its growth and project development in the areas of accommodation, services and innovative therapies to maintain seniors' well-being no matter what their level of dependence: this is the focus of our Domus2025 strategic plan. With the continued backing of our long-time investors, we are going to mobilise our forty thousand employees in France and around the world to meet this challenge and pursue the Group's global expansion."
